

Aeronautical provides innovative engineered product solutions, services and technical sales for companies capitalizing on existing production that requires a competitive leap forward. Innovative new products are designed and introduced into an existing plant boosting sales growth with minor changes to production. The results are spectacular new products that capture market share and are an obvious move forward.

We have established new international sales and marketing departments that allow factories to penetrate markets long after we have completed our contracts. Establishing building blocks that have been drawn together with experience from a number of years working with fortune 1000 companies that have simply excelled in their technological market segment.

Providing core enabling technologies that enhance the ability to weather downturns in world markets and provide peak performance when sales surge. Aeronautical has guided companies through tough international testing standards and provide core nanotechnology research and processes to the largest manufacturing companies in the world.

Contact Melbourne Australia

Phone 03 9005 6890

Mobile 0434 960 281

mario@aeronautical.com.au

www.aeronautical.com.au

Skype: mario.carpeggiani

Fax Number 03 9012 4517